

International Academic Mobility Program

Foreign Students who wish to study at UFRRJ

A foreign student who is interested in studying at Universidade Federal Rural do Rio de Janeiro must comply with legal and institutional requirements. In addition, he/she must have oral and written proficiency in Portuguese, so that he/she is able to follow all the classes.

Undergraduate and graduate students, regularly enrolled at a foreign university with which UFRRJ has terms of academic cooperation, can apply for the interchange program.

As aforementioned, the foreign student must, at first, verify if his/her institution has an academic agreement with UFRRJ. The foreign student must attend to the demands required by his/her institution in order to have his participation in the International Academic Mobility Program accepted. The responsible official in the foreign institution for the student's international mobility must contact "Pró-Reitoria de Graduação" (Dean of Undergraduate Studies Office) at UFRRJ in order to take the necessary measures.

Required documents:

1. Copy of the passport
2. Application form
3. Original (updated) school report, in English and Portuguese
4. Enrollment document at a foreign institution
5. A letter of application, justifying the interest in the Academic Mobility Program

In order to start studying during the second semester, the documents must be sent from 01 until may 31.

In order to start studying during the first semester of the following year, the documents must be sent from 01 until October 31.

It is important that students get informed about Brazilian legislation and obtain the specific visa, since the entry of foreigners depends on the visa that will be obtained in the Brazilian Consulate in the student's country of origin. UFRRJ does not accept foreign students who do not have the Student Visa and health care.

The required visa for those willing to study in Brazil is the temporary visa granted to students, according to Brazilian legislation (Lei nº 6.815/1980, artigo 13, inciso IV).

UFRRJ will send the Acceptance Letter to the foreign institution where the student is enrolled after he/she is admitted in the program.

The student's participation in the program will only be confirmed after he/she presents the copy of the Student Visa and international health care.
